Ransom & Randolph Launches High-Quality Brown Fused Alumina for Superior Abrasive Applications

Maumee, OH – July 15, 2024 – Ransom & Randolph™ (R&R™), a leader in precision investment casting materials, is excited to announce the launch of its premium product: R&R BFA brown fused alumina. This new addition to R&R's product portfolio provides unparalleled performance in abrasive applications.

R&R BFA brown fused alumina is a high-grade abrasive material known for its hardness, toughness, and excellent performance in various industrial applications. R&R BFA brown fused alumina is manufactured under strict quality control to ensure consistent particle size and purity, making it ideal for a range of uses like metal preparation, polishing, and use as a blasting media.

Key Product Features and Benefits:

- High Purity
 - Boasts a high aluminum oxide (Al₂O₃) content, ensuring superior hardness and durability.
- Multiple Grades Available
 - Offered in three different grit sizes (F36, F54, F150) to cater to specific industrial needs.
- Unmatched Quality & Consistency
 - Processed to stringent standards, ensuring uniform particle size distribution, exceptional durability, and reliable quality. Delivers uniformity in particle size exceeding industry standards.
- Reliable Performance
 - Uniform particle size distribution and consistent hardness for reliable results. Long-lasting performance minimizes downtime and maximizes productivity. Low dust levels improve operational efficiency and worker safety.
- Versatile Applications
 - Suitable for a variety of applications like metal preparation, polishing, and use as a blasting media.
