Ransom & Randolph Expands European Operations with Acquisition of emwerk GmbH

Maumee, OH – January 1, 2026 – Ransom & Randolph (R&R), a global leader in investment casting, has acquired emwerk GmbH, a Germany-based manufacturer serving the dental, jewelry, and industrial investment casting industries.

This acquisition expands R&R's European operations and strengthens its ability to support customers across Europe and the United Kingdom.

Founded in 2015 after its spin-off from DeguDent GmbH (a division of Dentsply), emwerk brings deep experience in dental investment materials and manufacturing. Ransom & Randolph and DeguDent previously operated as sister divisions within Dentsply Sirona, Inc., each focused on developing advanced materials for investment casting. While the two companies evolved separately, they share a long-standing dedication to quality, reliability, and technical excellence.

Daniel Nixon, President and CEO of Ransom & Randolph said, "This is a strategic investment in our future. It reinforces that R&R is in Europe for the long term — expanding our reach, strengthening supply, and deepening our partnerships around the world."

The acquisition is a significant step forward for Ransom & Randolph, focusing on its continued investment in global growth and customer commitment. With its Global Headquarters and US operations located in Maumee, Ohio, and expanded European operations, R&R is positioned to provide faster turnaround times, localized service, and closer collaboration with customers across Europe and the UK.

As part of the acquisition, Ransom & Randolph will continue operations at emwerk facility in Bohmte, Germany, which includes established production, packaging, and quality assurance resources. The site will integrate into R&R's European operations to further strengthen the company's regional manufacturing and support capabilities.

emwerk GmbH now operates under the Ransom & Randolph brand, serving as the regional hub for commercial operations, logistics, and technical service. The transition will be seamless for customers and partners, ensuring continued access to the same trusted products and support — now backed by R&R's global infrastructure.
